To whom it may concern,

I have employed NDEA as a Subcontractor on the Sydney Metro project since October 2017 and have had a very positive experience with them.

They have worked across a number of our sites including multiple sites in the CBD involving excavation around critical, dense and complicated utilities with many unknown and unchartered services – all without incident.

They have a professional office and booking system and their work crews are familiar with Tier 1 safety standards and environmental constraints such as noise and cleanliness in sensitive city or suburban environments.

Yours faithfully,
